PUTTING FAITH TO WORK

Congregations as a Promising Pathway to Employment for People with Disabilities

Erik Carter (Vanderbilt University)
Gigi Sanders (Christ Presbyterian Church)

A webinar series hosted by the Collaborative on Faith and Disability (www.faithanddisability.org)

VISION AND MISSION

People with disabilities and their families will have compelling opportunities and supports to develop and express their spirituality, engage in congregational life, and share their gifts and talents in ways that are personally valued and that strengthen communities.

Our mission is to support people with disabilities, their families, and those who support them by providing national and international leadership in the areas of research, education, service, and dissemination related to disability, religion, and inclusive supports.

A FEW IMPORTANT NOTES

• This webinar is being recorded and will be posted soon on the Collaborative on Faith and Disability website (www.faithanddisability.org).
• All slides, mentioned resources, and several helpful links will also be posted along with the webinar recording.
• Questions can be submitted in the chat box for discussion after the presentations.
• We will read posted questions to the presenters during the Q&A. All phone lines are silenced.
• Our time is brief and so shall the presenters be as well.
• Information about upcoming webinars and the Collaborative on Faith and Disability will be shared at the end of the webinar.

SOME GOALS OF PFTW

- Extend the field’s understanding of the possibilities and potential challenges of engaging congregations in supporting employment for people with disabilities
- Replicate and refine a practical and flexible model for congregations to address the employment needs of people with disabilities
- Recruit, equip, and coach congregations to support up to 60 individuals with a disability to secure and/or maintain employment across 4 states
- Evaluate the PFTW model’s impact, feasibility, and accessibility
- Ensure project findings penetrate practice by disseminating broadly through prominent national disability and faith networks

NEED FOR NEW APPROACHES

- People with disabilities have gifts and strengths to share
- Unemployment and underemployment remain pervasive
- Limited opportunities for valued community roles
- Service systems incapable of meeting all needs
- Natural supports are widely advocated, but rarely used

A CALL ON FAITH COMMUNITIES

How likely would you be to draw upon the support of your faith community for help connecting to employment?

THE PFTW MODEL

The Approaches in Kentucky, Tennessee, & Texas

INVITING CONGREGATIONS

- General announcements
- To congregations with disability ministry initiatives
- To families impacted by disability
- To agencies providing disability services
- To faith-based networks
POSSIBLE ENTRY POINTS
• Building an initiative project around one person
• Person with disability and/or family member asking
• Word of mouth among disability networks
• Helping a young adult with transition
• Beginning a new ministry in line with mission
• Expanding scope of current employment ministry or job club
• Expanding scope of inclusive or “special” ministries
• Tapping gifts of members in a new way
• Agency invitation for collaboration
• And many other ways yet to be found…..

INVITING THEIR MEMBERS
• Bulletin inserts
• PowerPoint announcements
• Social media
• Newsletters
• Personal invitations
• Other approaches

INVITING THEIR MEMBERS
NEW CONVERSATIONS ABOUT WORK
Questions to Answer
• Which strengths, gifts, and passions should we consider when thinking about a meaningful job?
• Which prior experiences should we remember when considering possible jobs?
• What types of job responsibilities might be a really great fit?
• What are possible businesses and organizations in our community where these types of jobs exist?
• Who should we talk to in our congregation (or beyond) who may have connections to such employers?
• What supports do we think will be needed to promote success?
• What are our next steps as a group?

NETWORKING TO EMPLOYMENT
• Where are all the places in our community that have these types of jobs?
• Who attends our congregation and also works in these types of places?
• Who could we talk to in our congregation who is really connected to businesses and organizations in our community?
• Who should we talk to in our congregation who is connected to other community groups?
• Who are some of the people you already know in the community that we could talk with? For example, family members, friends, relatives, neighbors, or others.

SUPPORTING EMPLOYMENT
Which of the following supports do you think you’ll need to find and keep a job?
• Help developing a resume or one-page profile
• A mentor to help you think about the kinds of things you’d love to do
• A mentor to help you learn about a particular type of job
• Someone with whom to practice for an interview
• Extra training or practice to learn job skills before finding a job
• Someone to encourage you throughout the job search
• Someone to help you connect to employers
• Extra help from someone to learn the job when you first start (like a job coach)
• Extra help from someone to help you keep the job over time (like a job coach)
• Assistance getting to or from work
• Modifications or changes to a job to make you more successful
• Extra training for an employer so they know how best to support you
For each support we think would be helpful, who do we know in our congregation who could help?
Are there outside groups or programs we should contact to find out about these supports?
A FEW LESSONS LEARNED

• This approach holds great promise
• The benefits extend beyond just finding employment
• The benefits are reciprocal—for congregations too
• This is new territory for some individuals, congregations, and service providers
• Congregations often move at a different pace
• Our inclination is to replicate formal supports, but they are not always appropriate or needed
• Building capacity and continuity of support among volunteers is a challenge
